7. EXECUTIVE DIRECTORS REPORT

Future Land Use Mapping Project – Neary shared that the Legislature is requiring planning commissions around the state to standardize definitions and symbology of Future Land use Mapping. The legislative report is due by the end of 2023. Commissioners expressed concern over retaining local control. Neary explained that the FLU map would not change substantially and the local control will depend on legislative changes around ACT 250. Commissioner Pelkey had concerns over Transitional Areas that should not densify where growth should be encouraged in nearby downtowns/village centers. Pelkey also stated that trails should be considered for the Resource-Based Recreation Area and that Rural definition should be refined since some of the sub-area options are conflicting as working lands can and often are conserved lands.

Approve Vermont State University at Castleton Letter – Neary shared the proposed Optimization 2.0 at Vermont State University, Castleton, will eliminate programs that bring the RRPC high quality intern talent on which the RRPC depends. The Executive Committee have drafted a letter of
